

C. Harold Taylor

August 4, 1934 - June 19, 2021

C. Harold Taylor, age 86, passed away peacefully at home on June 19, 2021. His wife of 43 years, Ginger Taylor was at his side.

Although not from North Dakota, which his deep southern accent implied, he adopted Valley City as his home. He became a big fan of North Dakota State University but his true allegiance remained with the team from his alma mater, Florida State University.

Harold was born August 4, 1934 in Graceville, Florida. He had a real talent for baseball and was named as a starting pitcher for Chipley High School when he was only in the ninth grade. For such a skinny kid, he could really throw the ball! When he graduated from high school in 1952, he went to Washington D.C. and worked for the FBI for a year, before returning to Tallahassee. Harold enlisted in the Air Force in 1953. He stationed at MacDill and worked as a radar operator when he wasn't playing baseball for the Air Force team. His commanding officer tried to talk Harold into re-enlisting just to keep him on the team! After leaving the service, Harold was approached by the New York Yankees to play baseball, but he was preparing to get married and decided that he needed to get serious about providing for his family. Harold married Emaline Ray in 1957 and entered Florida State University. He graduated in 1961 with a Bachelor's degree in Finance.

Harold began his banking career with Capital City Bank in Tallahassee, Florida. He soon began working his way up the ladder and was soon transferred to the First National Bank of Tampa. Harold became the youngest bank president in the state of Florida, at the age of 34 when he became the President and CEO of the First National Bank in Plant City in 1969. He relocated his family to Plant City, Florida and was involved in many church and civic activities. Harold was a deacon with the First Baptist Church of Plant City and was the President of the Plant City Chamber of Commerce. Harold's first wife, Emaline, passed away in 1977. He married Ginger Loberg in 1978. Harold retired from banking in 1980.

Although he had many accomplishments, Harold's main goal was to make sure that his family was provided for. He always wanted more for others than he wanted for himself.

Harold is survived by his wife, Ginger; his brothers, WC Hardy and Riley Hardy; his children, Scott Taylor, Kimberly Johnson (husband Larry), Joel Taylor (wife Jeanette), Victoria Crist (husband Kevin); his grandchildren, Ariel Jank, William Taylor, and Christine Taylor; Sophia Crist, Draven Crist, Jake Taylor; his great-grandchildren Kaelyn Jank and Ian Jank.

“ Ginger, Scott, Kim, Joey & Vicky, & related family,

My sincere prayers for peace, comfort & strength are extended to you, knowing your sorrow in “losing” this sweet man. However, as we were taught “To be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord.” May you be comforted with this scripture. We know he has been welcomed into his new home, praise the Lord!

Many times, I have thought of you all. Seeing the photos, it looks like you have had many happy occasions which is wonderful to know.

I know as you know, even through your grief that Harold was a generous, loving, caring gentleman. I have always respected him because of the kindness and consideration he showed to me also.

*God bless you all,
Donna Baker-Wilkes (formerly Donna Richter)*
