“ We remember so many things about Dick that it is hard to pick just one. Of course he was best man at our wedding but going back much farther than that I remember him at Green School as one of the "big boys." As one of the big boys in our country school I remember him helping me with a hobby hour project--a wooden cut-out of Popeye the Sailor man. He was so kind and patient. I know that everyone has good memories of him and that should be a comfort to those who are left.

“ Dick had a sly, nearly perpetual smile, a voice like none other, and everything about him (especially his personality) was extra-large. He's the kind of guy that brought a little extra color into the lives of those of us around him. Our thoughts and prayers are with you Ruby and kids!

“ As old and cantankerous as ever. That's what grandpa would always say when I asked him how he was doing. I'm so grateful to have a grandpa that sang odd songs at random and gave me his carvings so that I would have a house full to remember him by.
